Notes:

I.M.S. is the exclusive distributor for Savarez Alliance KF strings in the U.S.A. Savarez, a major maker of instrument strings based in Lyon, France, developed the Alliance fluorocarbon string in concert with Kureha Corporation, of Japan, who invented fluorocarbon in 1970. The combination of solvent & water resistance along with higher density make this material especially suited for musical instrument strings. Many harpers and harp makers refer to this kind of string as 'carbon' or 'carbon fiber', though fluorocarbon is the technically correct term. The actual scientific name is polyvinylende fluoride or PVDF.

You will notice that the strings from the HPK160RA to HPK101R Are composed of strands of fibre, and have the look and feel of gut, so they are sometimes referred to as 'synthetic gut'. Do not get alarmed if you see these strands separate a bit at the tuning pin when you are winding the string up to pitch, as this is a normal occurrence. As long as the separated fibers don't go past the bridge pin, there'll be no affect on the tone.

Bass Wires

The Savarez Company makes a full range of bass wires for the Celtic Harp, and these have been installed on your harp. Savarez Bass Wires for Celtic Harp may be obtained from International Music Service. Please note that the Savarez 'C' and 'F' bass wires are copper-coloured, not the red and blue respectively that many people are used to. If you wish to have custom-made bass wires on your harp, I've listed the specifications on the chart, so that you may also consider them.

Below is my preferred supplier for custom-made bass wires, though there are others such as Robinson's Harp Shop or Markwood Strings, and you'll need them to make strings for you should you require replacements in the future. Please mail or fax them a copy of your string chart, as they may not have one on file for your harp. You may also access a PDF file of this chart on my website, under 'Strings'. This PDF may then be e-mailed to the string maker.
